Hey Folks!

After an intermission, it feels great to say, "Welcome back to the Susquehanna Folk Festival!" It takes a village to create this festival, and I can't express how grateful I am to all those individuals and organizations who poured their time, treasure, and talent into this event. In a special way, I would like to recognize my predecessor Jess Hayden for being an endless resource of insight and wisdom, and providing me an incredibly firm foundation to build on.

On top of all the festival traditions returning this year, like the Emerging Artist Showcase and Liars Contest, we're excited to introduce new festival features! See musicians perform their own spin on buried musical treasures in our Archive Challenge, presented with the Library of Congress; take center stage yourself at our Festival Open Mic; and meet rising young talent on our New Roots Stage, made possible by Explore York!

This festival is a distillation of what Susquehanna Folk is all about: enjoying world class folk practitioners right in our own back yard, while recognizing the diverse folk arts masters we have living here in the Midstate.

Have a great festival!

About the Performers

Watkins Family Hour

GRAMMY award winning Nickel Creek alums Sara and Sean Watkins are celebrating the 20th anniversary of their all-star, anything-goes variety show. Brother and sister tour widely together as "Watkins Family Hour" in addition to their individual solo careers.

Rory Block

Widely regarded as the top female interpreter and authority in the genre, this seven time Blues Music Award winner is an ambassador for the Delta blues tradition. Guitar Extra calls her "a national treasure," and we agree.

Raye Zaragoza

Songs to fight for, represent, and celebrate those left too long outside the spotlight. "As a woman of color in America," she observes, "social issues are things you deal with and see every day of your life."

Rob Ickes & Trey Hensley

With a Grammy nomination and multiple IBMA awards between them, these two musicians make an electrifying duo. Hold onto your hat when they start flatpicking! Ickes (rhymes with bikes) is a 15-time IBMA Dobro Player of the Year; Hensley played the Opry at age 11.

Crys Matthews & Heather Mae

Winner of the International Folk Music Awards 2022 for her song "Changemakers," Crys Matthews has already been hailed as "the next Woody Guthrie." Heather Mae tackles complex topics surrounding mental health, LGBTQ+ issues and more. Together they perform songs of social justice and compassionate dissent

Ms Sheila Arnold

Ms Sheila is a renowned storyteller and historical character interpreter with a passion, vision and ministry of healing hearts and unifying communities. She will be emceeing our Liars Contest and performing her own stories, including some featuring the history of York County!

Festival Marketplace

More than a craft fair, this juried showcase is a way for SFMS to support, promote, and connect artists with new fans and buyers from all around Central Pennsylvania.

About the Performers

Ken & Brad Kolodner

This dynamic father-son team blurs the lines of Old-Time, Bluegrass and American Roots music. Ken on hammered dulcimer and Brad on clawhammer banjo will be joined by multi instrumentalist Rachel Eddy.

The Faux Paws

A contagious groove and feel-good melting pot of raging fiddle tunes, saxophone solos and unrequited love songs. They'll be playing the Main Stage and rocking our Saturday night contra dance with caller Donna Hunt.

The Murphy Beds

Stalwarts of the NYC traditional music scene, Eamon O'Leary and Jefferson Hamer present traditional and original folk songs with close harmonies and deft string arrangements.

The Revisionists

"Refreshingly joyful" —this premier Lindy Hop band from NYC brings the spirit of the Savoy Ballroom to our Dance Hall and to our Main Stage. Sponsored by Jess Hayden.

Bobby White, Crystal Johnson & Carla Heiney

Enjoy a solid day of jazz, swing, and Lindy Hop dancing with three internationally recognized instructors and our good friends at LindyCentral.

Colebrook Road

This nationally-known local band bridges traditional and progressive bluegrass, with clawhammer banjo, fiery fiddling, mandolin, dobro, guitar, bass and spot-on vocal harmonies.

Shane Speal

York's own "King of the Cigar Box Guitar" starts the festival off on Friday night in his own inimitable style.

About the Performers

Poor Man's Gambit

Performing repertoire mainly from Ireland but also from England, Brittany and Scotland, this young trio from the Philadelphia folk scene has already been called "a treasure chest of traditional."

Cas Ceol

Featuring members from three of Central PA's finest Celtic music groups (The Celtic Martins, Irish Blessing, and Seasons), Cas Ceol is truly a musical collaboration to be reckoned with!

Neidig, Koretzky, Gehret & Campbell with guests Alexander Mitchell & Todd Clewell and contra caller Kenny Brown

There's no telling what will happen when this "who's who" of powerhouse Central PA musicians takes the stage! Guitar/mando wizards Kevin Neidig and Henry Koretzky, multi-instrumentalist Ken Gehret and bassist Bruce Campbell join up with fiddler friends Todd Clewell and Alex Mitchell for some genre-bending musical fun. Sponsored by Beth Alwine.

Cumberland Honey

This Cumberland County trio features sweet harmonies with folk influences, soul and a taste of bluegrass. Their original songs weave stories of life, love and a call to social action.

Tanner Bingaman

Tanner's original "folkmush" and arrangements of traditional mountain tunes on guitar, banjo and harmonica earned him top honors in our 2021 Emerging Artist Showcase.

Spiritual Messengers

This Harrisburg-based ensemble is not your typical gospel group! Their repertoire ranges from early spirituals to collaboratively-written originals, with flavors of R&B and Soul, and even reggae beats and pop sounds.

About the Performers

Sviraj (pronounced SVEE-rye)

This band is a longtime favorite in the Eastern European immigrant community of Steelton (south of Harrisburg, PA), where folks are passionate about dancing and music. We bet you can't sit still when Svira plays!

Coracree

Philadelphia and Virginia based Coracree plays roots music from the heart, melding a mixture of Celtic, Old-Time, European and original music with an old and contemporary sound. They'll be playing for Sunday's contra dance with caller Alexandra Deis-Lauby.

Zita Angelo

Zita has been teaching and organizing International Dance classes and events in the area for many years. Ethnic folk dances of eastern Europe are fun, accessible, and great exercise!

Robin Bannerji & Maria Cramer

Join Robin and Maria to explore Shape Note singing. This traditional hymn style is designed for beginners, with rich a cappella harmonies and deeply resonant themes. Robin and Maria will also be leading our BalFolk dances.

Box and String

Original and traditional songs, moving panoramas (crankies), Appalachian rhythm toys, and plenty of silliness! The whole family will enjoy Sarah Gowan & Bill Quern — whether they're being Box and String, or playing dance tunes with Coracree or with other band projects.

Ian Zolitor, Main Stage emcee

Ian is the host of WXPB radio's Folk Show, which is broadcast from Philadelphia on Sunday nights from 8 to 10 pm. Gene Shay, Ian's mentor and previous host of the Folk Show, says: "He's going to be somebody very special to the music scene."
